It Is High Time!

NEW YORK IS HIGH TIME that those who speak of the Christian gospel drop the apologetic tone. Our Lord is either the mighty Redeemer, living in the power of an endless life, or he is simply a dead hero about whom the world in the present time will be little concerned. . . .

IT IS HIGH TIME that Christian teachers ceased to offer the Word on the ground that it will be useful through aiding mankind to meet the perils of upheavals and revolutions in human society. It is not first of all to be commended as beneficial, but as true. . . .

IT IS HIGH TIME that in our discussions of religion we be not afraid of the name of God. We have yielded too long to the defect of our religious thinking, that we are much more willing to talk of synagogics—that is, of things which concern the organization of the church—than of God. . . .

These vibrant words—from the Introduction of the book—reveal the spirit and message of

You Can Find God

By Edward Shillito

Epilogue: What If You Do Find?

G. K. CHESTERTON said many years ago: "We have found all the questions that can be found. It is time we gave up looking for questions, and started looking for answers."

Dr. Shillito is looking for answers to the questions concerning God. And he has found answers that convince and enlighten.
